INDUSTRY SUPPORT PROSPECTUS

www.ColumbiaWound.Org

Dear CWCC Industry Partners,

We would like to formally invite you to our 2022 educational offerings back IN PERSON. Our mission is to raise community awareness of scientific advances in wound care and to be a resource to wound care providers through education, consultation, and promotion of evidence-based, advanced wound care practice. As always, membership to this accredited community is free.

At each event we present new and topical information from wound care experts. Our Advanced Wound Care Symposium (AWCS) is open to health care providers, faculty, and students with an interest in wound medicine and hyperbaric medicine. The AWCS is how we deliver the latest in advanced wound care content in addition to our Basic Wound Care Course (BWCC). Our format encourages interaction with Q&A segments with speakers and the opportunity to network with colleagues. We are excited to be back to in-person meetings.

The Basic Wound Care Course (BWCC) is an orientation to wound care. It is directed at wound care providers of all backgrounds who desire a well-rounded overview of the major components of comprehensive wound assessment and treatment. Join us for didactic sessions and 2 hours of interactive virtual breakouts using wound care products. BWCC faculty represent the top wound care providers in the region. We offer up to 2 hours of exhibiting exposure during the BWCC to an ever-expanding audience of clinicians and trainees.

We would like to thank you all for your continued support of this great organization. We look forward to seeing you at our next meeting!

Sincerely, Victor Quijano, DPM
President, Columbia Wound Care Community;
Helen Christians, MOTL, WCC
Past-President, Columbia Wound Care Community

About the CWCC

Our Vision

We envision the highest level of wound care being available to people of the Pacific Northwest.

Our History

The Columbia Wound Care Community (CWCC), formerly Columbia Wound Care Consortium, is a group of physicians, nurses, and wound care specialists in Oregon and Washington who have joined together to promote the fields of wound medicine and hyperbaric medicine. Our members include inpatient and outpatient wound care providers from area hospitals. We share a philosophy of pooling resources and sharing information between local experts to benefit providers and those in need of specialized care of hard to heal wounds.

Target Audience

Wound care professionals practicing in the greater Portland / Vancouver metropolitan area. All topics address professional educational gaps identified through a survey of CWCC members.

Attendance

AWCS: 100 – 125:

55% Mid-Level and Allied Health Practitioners, 15% Advanced Practitioners and Physicians, 30% Students and Residents
